Navy Favors GI Bill for Korea Vets

Secretary Kimball Tells VFW Meet He Opposes Abuse

NEW YORK—(AP)—The navy favors educational benefits for Korean war veterans but not to the extent granted in the GI Bill of Rights of World War II, Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball said today.

He added that his services opposes "the scattergun approach which led to outright abuses under the previous act (the GI bill)."

Kimball also voiced opposition to the "inclusion of all Korean veterans into the '52-20' category."

The "52-20" term applied to veterans who took full advantage of a GI bill provision allowing them to draw unemployment benefits of $20 a week for 52 weeks.

Hearings Next Month

Kimball's comments were on the proposed Korean conflict service man's readjustment act, which is scheduled for senate hearings next month. The legislation would extend to Korean veterans the benefits granted those who served in World War II.

"We want every man in service whose education was interrupted to have the opportunity to resume study and complete his education," Kimball said. "We also want those who have a sincere desire to learn to have every opportunity to secure as high a degree of education as possible."

Favors Loans

"We favor the loan provisions provided by law for veterans of World War II and we would like to see these loan provisions extended to people who are still in the service," he added.

"With employment in the nation at a high level, we do not believe there is a necessity for the blanket inclusion of all Korean veterans into the '52-20' category."

Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine corps commander, told the VFW convention yesterday that the Korean war was a "blessing in disguise" that contributed to American defense "because if we hadn't had Korea—God help us if we had started in a war."

Four Times as Strong

Cates said the United States is "four times as strong" now as when the Korean war started 14 months ago.

The Marine corps commander spoke at a business session of the VFW convention, bringing 75,000 veterans and their families to New York for the week-long gathering.

Landfill Movie Will Be Shown Council Tonight

Movies are on the program at the Dixon city council meeting tonight.

Members of the council and interested residents of Dixon and vicinity who attend the meeting will see a sound movie on the operation of a landfill garbage disposal.

The council at its meeting last Tuesday night gave M. L. Milligan, a representative of the R. C. Larkins company of Rockford permission to show the movie. The Larkins company sells equipment for landfill operations.

The city is planning to operate a landfill garbage disposal on property recently purchased from Otto Ventler in South Dixon township. Residents of that township appeared at a recent council meeting protesting the location of the disposal area.

Petitions to Change Name

Donald E. Miller, Dixon, filed a petition today with Circuit Clerk John Shaulis asking that the circuit court change his name from Donald E. Miller to Donald E. Peterson.

According to the petition Miller says that he has been known as Donald E. Peterson since early childhood and was inducted into the armed forces under that name.

See No Break in Mineral Industry Strike

Union Will Not Heed Return to Work Request

Settlement May Come at Meeting In Capital Tomorrow

DENVER—(AP)—Union leaders said flatly today there would be no break in the nationwide strike in the strategic minerals industry before a Washington meeting tomorrow.

A spokesman for the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union (IMM) said no formal answer would be made to a back-to-work request from the Wage Stabilization Board to halt the strike of 58,000 producers of copper, lead, zinc and silver.

"We think our attendance at the board meeting in Washington tomorrow will be sufficient answer," said the union spokesman. Earlier, Union President John Clark, said the strike is going to continue "unless or until" the government presses the industry to accept the settlement offer proposed by Government Mediator Cyrus Ching in the Kennecott Copper dispute.

Package Increase

That offer calls for a package increase of approximately 21 cents per hour. Union representatives said this offer was acceptable, but it was rejected by a mediator for Kennecott.

Quiet picketing was reported at strike-bound plants and mines across the country.

Defense officials said the strike was hitting the mobilization drive at its weakest point since copper is the scarcest of the major metals. The strike also affects zinc, lead and silver production.

Expelled By CIO

The IUMMSW was expelled from the CIO on charges its leaders followed the Communist line. In addition to the 58,000 IMM SW workers, there are 3,000 members of the AFL metal trades union in Utah who joined in the walkout. The IUMMSW headquarters said members of the railroad brotherhoods are respecting their picket lines.

Chicago to Open 'Ragweed Court'

CHICAGO, (AP)—Hay fever sufferers yesterday wheezed sighs of gratitude as Chicago announced formation of a "ragweed court" to try property owners charged with violating the city's ragweed ordinance.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court said the court will open Sept. 4 with Judge Erwin J. Hasten presiding.

The ordinance requires property owners to cut ragweed at least twice a summer. A maximum fine of $200 is provided for violators.

Truman Tells New Czech Envoy Terms for Improved Relations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman told the new Czechoslovak ambassador today the best way to restore cordial relations with the United States would be for his government to free William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent jailed there on spy charges.

In a meeting limited to five minutes, reporters were told Truman informed Dr. Vladimir Prochazka that relations between the U.S. and Czechoslovakia had "deteriorated ever since Jan Masaryk was murdered."

Plain Talk

This plain talk when the ambassador called to present his credentials was reported afterwards by the president's press secretary, Joseph Short.

Short told newsmen that in the conversation between the ambassador and the president the ambassador said "he hoped to make our relations more cordial."

"The president replied that the best way he could make our relations more cordial was to send our Associated Press correspondent Oatis home," Short told a news conference.

Tampering With Mail Boxes Can Mean Stiff Fine

Persons caught tampering with rural mail boxes are flirting with a stiff federal fine and possible jail sentence, Postmaster Rae Arnould, Dixon, said today.

He said that he has had complaints from some residents near Dixon that children have been removing the mail and placing garbage in the containers.

While the boxes are privately owned, they come under post office jurisdiction, Arnould said.

Italy Demands Trial of Pair In OSS Murder

VERBANIA, Italy (AP)—The Verbania prosecutor formally demanded today the extradition of former U.S. Army Lt. Aldo Icardi and former Sgt. Carlo LoDolce to stand trial in Italy for murder.

Carlo Rama, deputy judge in charge of the inquiry, said the request and a large sheaf of supporting documents would be delivered in Turin tomorrow morning.

The U.S. Defense department has named the two ex-servicemen as the slayers of their mission commander, Maj. William Holloman, but under American law the two cannot be tried in the U.S. for a crime allegedly committed during the war service covered by their honorable discharges from the army. The crime was said to have taken place during a secret mission in Northern Italy.

Reds Rushing Arms to Korea Front Lines

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A record Communist effort to rush arms and men to the Korean front prompted the U.S. decision to reverse its earlier policy and bomb Rashin, the rail center near Russian Siberia.

The Communists have been moving men and equipment into the war zone continuously since the start of the armistice talks at Kaesong.

But in the past week or so this movement has been speeded up, taking on what some military officials here regard as the semblance of an effort to meet a deadline.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur told a senate investigating committee after his dismissal as Far East commander that he was prevented from bombing Rashin last year by orders from Washington.

The ban was put into effect, MacArthur said, after 50 B-29s pounded the port city with 500 tons of bombs on Aug. 12, 1950.

Thirty-five air force B-29 bombers, covered by navy jet fighters, hit the big supply center with 300 tons of bombs on Saturday only after getting approval from both the state and defense departments.

In explaining this reversal of policy, government spokesmen said only that important military reasons prompted the raid. In explaining why Rashin was put out of bounds when MacArthur wanted to hit it, top officials had said it was only 17 miles from the Russian Siberian border and thus too close to risk a possible near miss.

The attack was in the same general area where a Red attack Monday forced U. N. troops back nearly two miles. The fight lasted until nightfall.

PREPARE FOR ATTACK—While their laundry hangs drying on the edge of their camouflage net in Korea, this New Zealand artillery team cleans their gun for a mission expected later in the day. Feeler assaults were sent out throughout the night north of Yanggu by the North Koreans, which a UN officer said "usually preceded a general attack."

Troops Ring Chicago in Defense Test

Exercise Designed To Repulse Enemy Attack From Air

CHICAGO, (AP)—Anti-aircraft troops surrounded Chicago today as the Fifth army carried out a training exercise designed to protect the nation's second largest city in the event of enemy attack from the air.

Equipped for battle, troops of the Fifty-first Antiaircraft brigade last night moved guns of various caliber into emplacements in and around the city.

Similar exercises also are being carried on in the Detroit area. The army declined to say how long the exercises would continue.

Numerical strength of the troops within a deep perimeter around Chicago was not disclosed but an army spokesman described it as "fairly large."

The maneuver was described by the army as a test of personnel training in the simulated occupation of defense positions, and training in the conduct of road marches by units of battalion or larger size through populated areas.

Battle Rages In Hills on Korean Front

U.S. 8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, (AP)—An all-day battle raged today in the rain-soaked hills north of Yanggu on the East Korean front.

The rest of the front, which had flared with increasingly heavy clashes Monday, quieted under low clouds that often obscured entire ridgelines.

Rain and mist dampened the entire battle lines. Ground action was limited largely to sporadic artillery barrages and scattered fights between patrols. Most planes were grounded. Only 42 sorties were flown by the Fifth air force up to 6 p.m. (2 a.m. CST).

Reds took advantage of the weather and slipped small groups of infantrymen into position north of Yanggu for assaults on Allied ridge positions. The Communist troops attacked at 9 a.m. (5 p.m. Monday CST). By noon two reinforced companies were trying to crack United Nations positions.

The attack was in the same general area where a Red attack Monday forced U. N. troops back nearly two miles. The fight lasted until nightfall.

Eisenhower Says Federation of Europe Would Solve Problems

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has told senators he is "very hopeful that many of our problems would disappear if Western Europe were one federal union."

"I believe it so strongly," he said, "that I do not believe real security is going to be felt in the United States, in the British empire, and other nations, of the globe until that comes about."

He said he believed "once the whole area of Western Europe is united in a federation 'the Soviets will never be able to hold the East Germans out of it—I believe that with all my heart.'"

Endorses Federal Union

Eisenhower, supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) powers in Europe, made those statements to a senate foreign relations subcommittee which toured Europe last July. It was studying U.S. economic and arms aid programs. Testimony was released yesterday after deletion of portions the group felt might involve security.

The general voiced his endorsement of the federal union idea as the senators started their tour. Then, two weeks later, as they neared the end of their trip, he told the senators:

Key to Problem

"I realize that a lot of my professional associates are going to think that I am completely crazy, but I will tell you that joining Europe together is the key to the whole thing. And if you can do it with a European army, I am ready to put a lot of work in it."

American leadership, help and armed forces, Eisenhower said, are restoring the confidence of Western Europeans, and he added:

"The faster they regain their confidence, the faster they will do the job of defending themselves. In my opinion, the one thing that can break the United States and give us nothing in return is to drag this thing out. We must go to the limit of our productive capacity and the power of Europe."

Conscientious Objectors Spurn Union, Face Loss of Rail Jobs

TOLEDO—(AP)—Two Toledo brothers who have worked a combined total of 45 years for the New York Central System here face dismissal from their jobs because they are conscientious objectors to union membership.

Their religious beliefs, they contend, prevent them from joining the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen, as required by a union shop agreement between the NYC and the railway union.

One of the men, Cornelius H. Delamotte, a hostler with 22 years of service, already has received notice his employment will end Sept. 8. A similar notice is expected to be sent to his brother, Charles, with 23 years of service, when he returns from vacation.

Both men are members of a religious group which carries no public label, has no set creed and no ministers. It has been referred to as the Plymouth Brethren.

Believing in a strict and literal interpretation of the Bible, the men base their refusal to join the union on this verse appearing in St. Paul's second letter to the Corinthians, 6:14:

"Be ye not unequally yoked to-

Extend Hunt to Hawaii; Arrest Pal of Bridges

Those Rounded Up On Islands Listed As Party Leaders

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The FBI today extended its Communist roundup to Hawaii and arrested seven alleged party leaders in the islands.

Attorney General McGrath and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a joint announcement that the pickups in the Pacific territory were made at about 11 a.m. CST (8 a.m. Hawaiian time).

Those taken into custody included Jack Wayne Hall, 36, described by the Justice department as the representative in Hawaii of West Coast long shore leader Harry Bridges.

Hall is regional director of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union—the Bridges organization—for the territory of Hawaii.

The arrests were carried out simultaneously by FBI agents at the homes of each of the seven. They were picked up on warrants issued by the U.S. commissioner in Honolulu on government complaints charging them with conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Total Now 64

This made a total of 64 Communist leaders who have been so charged, beginning with the convictions of the 11 top officials of the party in New York City more than a year ago.

Eight of the Communists are now fighting from jails having eluded arrest in recent roundup. This includes four of the top 11 Reds and four "second stringers" not yet brought to trial.

Attorney General McGrath said in a statement that he regards today's detentions "as extremely important because of the strategic importance of the Hawaiian islands in our fight against Communism in the Pacific."

Tri-Power Loan To Yugoslavia Is Announced

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France have agreed to provide $50,000,000 in economic aid to Yugoslavia to support Marshal Tito's "contribution to the security of the free world."

The Economic Cooperation Administration, in announcing this today, disclosed it already has allocated $29,800,000 as an initial installment to help the Yugoslavs buy cotton, coke and steel.

Britain shortly will announce, ECA said, its decision to make available $11,500,000 to help bolster Yugoslavia's economy.

The French government is also expected to announce its contribution in the near future. Informed officials said the initial French installment would be around $5,000,000 or $6,000,000.

Farm Bureau Farm Management Tour Set for Friday

Good Practices Will Be Shown Area Farmers

Bureau County Farm Is Included In Tour Itinerary

Farmers in Lee county interested in good farm management practices are invited to attend the Farm Bureau farm management tour Friday, Aug. 31.

Since Bureau county is holding its Farm Bureau farm management tour the same day, the two counties will unite in the morning at 10 a. m. (CDT) at the Chase brothers farm in Bureau county, one mile south and two miles west of Kasbeer on Rt. 26. Watch for direction signs to the farm when you get to Kasbeer. At this farm will be seen a feeder cattle operation with much new equipment, including glass lined Harvestore silos and a low cost pole frame barn.

From there the group will go to the Ray Pierson farm, a short distance from the Chase brothers farm. Here a very efficient hog feeding set-up will be shown.

After the morning stops, those attending from the Lee county will return to Sublette to the R. W. Ulch farm on the south edge of town. The first order of business at this stop will be dinner. Everybody is asked to bring a picnic lunch.

At 1:30 p. m. (CDT) the formal afternoon program will begin on the Ulch farm where a 7-year rotation used on this farm will be discussed. Also to be seen and discussed will be feeder cattle, feeder pigs, a swine herd, sheep flock and Angus breeding herd. Brahman and Angus crossed calves, feeder pigs purchased from a pig hatchery, a cattle squeeze, Multiflora rose fence and a check plot showing Nitrogen used on part of a corn field will be viewed. Ulch is also producing Christmas trees.

All interested in farming are invited to come and bring their neighbors.

You don't produce winners in the show ring by blocking alone, but by good breeding, feeding and management.

Priebe Tells Farmers There's Money in Growing Chickens

BY FRANK PRIEBE

This is Fair time all over the Middle West. And a couple of weeks ago I joined the crowd and went to the Fair, too. It was the Illinois State Fair—and it was a great show.

Naturally, I went through the poultry exhibit. I saw a lot of fine looking pens—and some breeds I'd almost forgotten about, we hear so little about anymore.

But the place where I found a crowd collected around chickens was not in the poultry exhibit. It was in one of the commercial exhibits.

Living Demonstration
There they had chickens 2 weeks, 4 weeks, 6 weeks, 8 weeks, and 10 weeks old—all the same breed. It was a living demonstration of how fast chicken can be grown today. The 10-week-old birds were ready for market!

There were placecards showing the age and weight of each group of chickens—and a big sign told all the farmers that a poultry plant in that area was in the market for 4,000,000 chickens like that a year.

I have an idea a good many of those who saw it are thinking seriously about the chicken business.

Farmer's Results
I've told you a couple of times about the Iowa farmers who are raising 2,000 chickens a week. Here are his results for the last 10 weeks:

June 9, he made $358.32; June 16, he made $373.53; June 23, he made $330.27; June 29, he made $418.29; July 7, he made $461.90;

July 13, he made $97.93; July 20, he made $301.30; July 27, he made $443.33; Aug. 3, he made $530.26 and Aug. 10, he made $543.23.

Those figures are his labor profit—what he had left after he had paid for the chicks, feed, electricity, insurance, depreciation—all his costs except labor.

That adds up to a total profit of $3,858.36—a most $4,000—on 20,000 chicks in 10 weeks! That's enough to interest a good many people—even in Iowa and Illinois!

Loss of Birds
It's interesting that the week his profit dropped $100 it was because he'd lost almost 20 per cent of that bunch of birds. The last week, when his profit was well over $500, he lost less than 2 per cent of his birds!

During the 10 weeks there wasn't over a cent a pound difference in the price he got for his chickens. The difference in the amount of money he made was due almost entirely to how good a job he did raising them!

For a person who does a good job and keeps his costs down, there's good money in growing chickens.

Keeping your pigs cool in hot weather will promote faster gains and reduce the chance of loss from overheating.

Arrange Soybean Meeting Schedule

HUDSON, Iowa—Annual banquet of the American Soybean association's convention in Des Moines will be held Friday evening, Sept. 7, at Hotel Fort Des Moines, Geo. M. Strayer, association secretary-treasurer, said today.

Banquet speaker will be Col. Jack Major, well known story teller and humorous speaker of Paducah, Ky. His subject will be, "Taxes, Women and Hogs."

Another feature of the annual banquet will be naming of honorary life members.

Convention headquarters will be Hotel Fort Des Moines, where the formal program will be held Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6 and 7. On Sept. 8 convention visitors will go to Iowa State college for a field day. The tour will include the college agronomy and swine nutritional research farms.

Tour of Des Moines
There will be a tour of Des Moines for the women Friday, Sept. 7.

Other speakers who have been confirmed to date and their subjects include:

Dr. H. A. Borthwick, senior plant physiologist, USDA, Beltsville, Md., "Day Length and Soybean Maturity."

Dr. Martin G. Weiss, principal agronomist, division of forage crops and diseases, USDA, Beltsville, Md., "Research in the Development of Soybean Varieties."

Dr. John Cowan, assistant director, Northern Regional Research Laboratory, Peoria, "Recent Research Developments on Soybeans at the Northern Regional Research Lab."

Dr. V. I. West, department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois, Urbana, "Needed

Changes in Soybean Grading and Pricing."

Paul E. Quintus, head of the fats and oils division of the international commodities branch, U. S. department of agriculture's office of foreign agricultural relations, "World Fats and Oils Supplies and American Soybeans."

Jason E. Barr, chief inspector of the grain branch division of the USDA, "Federal Grades for Soybeans."

Dr. J. E. Jeffries, Penola Oil Co., Linden, N. J., "Safety Matters in Handling of Solvents."

C. G. Heywood, Pinchin, Johnson Associates, London, England, "Britain's Oilseed Industry."

George Sirota, George Sirota & Sons, Inc., New York City, "30 Years Selling Soybean Oil."

Dr. Damon Catron, head, Swine Nutritional Research Farm, Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, "Soybean Oil Meal, Antibiotics and Swine."

Dr. Elton Johnson, poultry husbandry department, Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, "Poultry Production and Soybean Oil Meal."

Dr. Wise Burroughs, animal husbandry department and chemistry division, Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, "New Developments in Beef Feeding."

C. K. Shuman, the Glidden company, Indianapolis, Ind., "Soybean Oil Meal in Formula Feed."

Convention committee includes Strayer as chairman; Howard L. Roach, Plainfield, Iowa; C. M. Gregory, Dike, Iowa; John Sand, Marcus, Iowa; and C. R. Weber, Ames, Iowa.

Go Ahead, Shoe!

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Any Illinois horse owner can shoe his mount without a state license.

That was the gist of an opinion issued today by Attorney General Ivan Elliott in response to a query from C. Hobart Engle, state registration and education director.

Elliott held that the Illinois horse shoeing act requires only persons who make horse shoeing a business to get a license from the state.

Cafeteria Style Feeding for Dairy Cattle Seen in Future

URBANA—Dairy cattle in the future may get their grain cafeteria style instead of by the expensive "spoon-feeding" method commonly used now.

To "Bossy," it probably won't make any difference. She'll eat just as much and give just as much milk. But to the dairyman with a pen barn and milking parlor, the system will mean a big saving in steps and chore time.

Dairy specialist K. E. Harshbarger says the cafeteria idea is merely self-feeding grain and hay to cows at the same time. He believes self-feeding is more practical than most dairy farmers and scientists would admit. And a test last winter confirmed his belief.

Hay Grain Mixture
Harshbarger used six cows. Each cow received 47 pounds of self-fed hay and grain mixture per day. Seventy per cent of the mixture was hay—coarsely ground alfalfa run through a hammermill. The other 30 per cent was standard grain mixture—ground corn, oats, soybean oil meal, linseed oil meal, bran, bonemeal and salt.

One pair of cows received only the self-fed mixture. Another pair got the mixture plus 13 pounds of silage. And the third pair got the mixture plus 4½ pounds of loose alfalfa each day. The three pairs were rotated so that each pair was fed all three rations in the test.

Milk Production Same
Average milk production stayed almost the same for cows on each ration. It varied only from 29½ to 30½ pounds of milk per day, converted to 4 per cent butterfat. And the cows gained between 7/10 and 8/10 pounds in weight daily. Harshbarger believes that all three pairs would have done about equally well on the self-fed mixture alone. There was no need for silage or loose hay.

Self-feeding has other advantages besides saving time and labor. You don't feed dusty grain in the milking parlor—where cleanliness is important—or in a separate stall.

Plan More Tests
This winter Harshbarger is planning more tests to correct two disadvantages found in the first tests. One drawback was feed wastage. The cows would nose the feed out of the self-feeder into the bedding. This can be corrected by building uprisings on the self-feeder, like stanchions, to keep cows from throwing their heads around.

The other had feature of self-feeders is that all cows get the same proportion of grain to hay. But you should feed them grain according to production. However, you can have three feeders with different levels of grain for your best, medium and average producers.

Harshbarger is going to test this idea this winter using a new design of feeder and different breeds besides Holsteins.

With the new idea of self-feeding hay and grain to cows at the same time, dairymen now have possibly the greatest labor-saving scheme in a long time.

Amboy Cow Ends Production Test

BRATTLEBORO, Vt.—With 507 pounds of butterfat and 13,614 pounds of milk to her credit, Allean Estem Rag Apple, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Alfred E. Meyer, Amboy, has completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry.

She was milked two times daily, and was two years, seven months old when she began her testing period.

Testing was supervised by the University of Illinois, in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian association.

Nearly 35,000 Illinois farmers keep farm record account books.

Champaign Ara Corn Hit by New Fungus; Fear for Crop

CHAMPAIGN, (AP) — Corn growers fear that half the Champaign area corn may be hit by a little known fungus disease.

Growers said yesterday the fungus was discovered in corn fields over the weekend. The scientific name for the fungus is helminthosporium turcicum.

Worst hit are the seed corn fields, according to S. L. Victor of Tuscola, head of the Pfister Association Corn Growers Association. The group has several thousand acres of corn under cultivation in Douglas and Champaign counties.

"There is every reason to believe that the disease will spread so extensively that a prediction of 50 per cent crop at harvest time would be on the conservative side," Victor said.

Deeply Concerned

Delbert Grimm, manager of the DeKalb Agriculture Association processing plant at Tuscola, said "we are deeply concerned and the prospects of a good crop have decreased radically."

"If the situation doesn't change immediately all we can hope for is chaffy and lightweight corn at harvest time."

Corn growers have started spraying the fields with a chemical called Dithrane. But it was emphasized the chemical is being used on an experimental basis.

The growers said the fungus is borne by spores that live over the winter in old vegetables. It spreads rapidly from plant to plant.

Control Experimental

Victor said control measures are strictly experimental since little is known about the disease. He said that the greatest need of the corn belt at this time would be a long and continued hot, dry spell.

The fungus stricken area is being studied by a number of plant pathologists from the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Last season, the fungus made a small appearance but did not cause much loss of crop.

The fungus appears in light grey blotches, usually around the midrib, and then spreads over the entire plant.

All Signatures Shirley Temple's Ex-Husband Gets

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— The Illinois state historical library has put on display papers bearing signatures of all 32 presidents.

The signature of George Washington appears on a paper appointing a marshal of the New York district. The Abraham Lincoln letter in the display is one asking the secretary of war to show clemency to a youthful prisoner of war.

University of Illinois livestock specialists say that the most successful hog businesses are based on good feeding, breeding and management practices.

Now's a good time to be sure your fall brood sows are getting plenty of minerals in their ration, says a University of Illinois veterinarian.

Late Pasture Season Cuts Feed Bill Cost

CHICAGO—It will pay farmers to stretch the fall pasture season as late as possible this year, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement committee in a statement issued here. This will cut down costly feed bills, give beef and dairy cattle extra grazing days and result in lower production costs.

Three steps for making pastures pay maximum returns this fall were suggested by the committee:

Top-dress and graze permanent pastures with fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash to give fast recovery after summer heat.

Add plant nutrients to old meadows that will be plowed under for corn next spring.

Plant special fall crops such as winter rye, winter wheat and other crops that will give good grazing. Be sure they are planted early enough to produce good growth. These should be planted in grain fields not seeded to legume-grass mixtures.

"Giving the crops needed nutrients at planting time," says the statement, "is vital in getting extra grazing results this fall and early grazing next spring. Pastures will get off to an earlier start and save costly days of barn feeding if they are top-dressed as soon as growth begins in the spring."

Agronomists point out that on legume-grass pastures, a top-dressing late this fall or early spring of a nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizer such as 8-8-8 or 10-10-10 will build thicker, higher-yielding stands.

Price Going Up

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The price of synthetic rubber will go up one and a half cents a pound next month to help finance government plans to boost production from 760,000 to 860,000 long tons a year. Tire prices may climb slightly if manufacturers pass on added costs.

Firing of Agriculture Dept: Employee Ires Louisville Editor

URBANA, Ill., (AP) —An official of the American Society of Newspaper Editors says the secrecy surrounding the recent firing of a Department of Agriculture official is "outrageous and unacceptable."

James S. Pope, managing editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal and chairman of the ASNE's committee on freedom of information, in a speech before the Association for Education in Journalism last night referred to the agriculture department incident.

Embrace Same Creed

Pope recalled that in an article on news suppression in the July Atlantic, he said many men now in public office embrace a creed "which holds that it is dangerous for news of government to leak out in any natural, unprocessed form."

He said some persons were shocked and skeptical that such totalitarian ideas should infect our public servants. He added:

"It not only infects them, but so complacent has the press become in recent years that these officials think nothing of proclaiming their creed from the rooftops. We have to go back three days to find a perfect example."

Give No Reasons

"When the department of agriculture fired a $10,000 official named Jack Cowart on unspecified but apparently grave charges involving his conduct in office, Secretary Brannan naturally was asked to define the charges and explain the dismissal. He replied blandly that this was a big department with a big turnover, and that 'it is traditional with us not to give the reasons.'"

"I do not know whether Mr. Cowart is being unjustly discharged or whether the secretary of agriculture is hiding some embarrassing data on his department. None of us knows anything about it except that the secrecy itself is outrageous and unacceptable."

Isolate show hogs at least 30 days and get a negative blood test before you turn them out with the rest of the herd.

Farm Loan Group Pays Dividend To U.S. Treasury

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The treasury has received a check of $1,000,000 from the Farm Credit Administration, boosting to $100,000,000 the total dividends from $200,000,000 loaned to farmers during the depression days of the 1930's.

The check was given to Secretary of the Treasury Snyder at a White House ceremony Friday. President Truman issued a statement saying that the lending operation had "been of no cost to the government."

Cloak and Dagger Murder Mystery Has Curious Angles

An Italian court has decided definitely to seek extradition of the two American officers whom the defense department substantially accuses of murdering a fellow officer in northern Italy seven years ago.

The three men led an office of strategic services mission to contact Italian partisans behind the German lines. The two accused, Lt. Aldo Icardi and Sgt. Carlos LoDolce, are alleged to have killed their leader, Maj. William V. Holohan, in disagreement over his conduct of their operations.

This bizarre case has many perplexing angles. Against LoDolce stands a published "confession," said to have been signed by him and witnessed by two special agents of the Central Intelligence Agency and a Rochester, N. Y., police officer. But LoDolce now says that statement does not tell the full story, though it gave many details of the alleged killing.

Icardi denies any part in the major's death. He says if Holohan was murdered, it must have happened after he was separated from the group. He suggests the major was shot by Germans who attacked the OSS mission.

Two Italian partisans who worked with the mission have "confessed" to assisting Icardi and LoDolce, and they are soon to stand trial for murder.

The defense department said the mission took $100,000 with it, but Maj.-Gen. William J. Donovan, former OSS chief, insists the sum was only $14,000.

Though LoDolce's "confession" was taken a year ago, the department withheld any account of the story until now. It is not clear whether its release was forced or speeded by knowledge that a magazine was about to publish it in detail. Last year an Italian newspaper carried a version of it, but it wasn't widely circulated.

In all the confusion and mystery, one thing stands out: Holohan's body was found in Lake Orta exactly where the two partisans said it had been dumped in 1944. It was trussed in a sleeping bag and there was a bullet hole in the head. Again these facts fit the partisans' story.

They also fit the account allegedly given intelligence officers in this country by LoDolce. They do not fit Icardi's original suggestion, that Holohan was killed by attacking Germans. It's unlikely the Nazis would have troubled to dump the major's body, trussed and weighted, into a nearby lake.

Icardi and LoDolce are in a curious legal position. Out of the army, they can't be tried by court-martial. Since the alleged crime occurred on foreign soil, this country has no civil jurisdiction. Only an Italian court can try them, but there is some doubt whether under existing U. S.-Italian treaties they can be extradited.

Both men have indicated that in any case, they would fight extradition. In this they may be making a serious mistake. If they are innocent, as they say, they should welcome a trial which is the only formal, sure manner of clearing their names. To combat extradition weakens their moral position.

Icardi argues that the two were spies in an enemy country at the time of Holohan's death, and that therefore they might get pretty rough treatment in Italy. That's doubtful reasoning, since Italy today is tightly allied with the West and would be unlikely to incur U. S. wrath by conducting an unfair trial harking back to Mussolini's days.

The alternative to trial for these two men is to live out their lives under a permanent cloud of doubt. It is hard to believe they would want that.

Beware of 'Misery Mamie'; Loves to Get You Down

It's never any pleasure to see Mamie. In half an hour's conversation Mamie can get even the most light-hearted acquaintance to wearing a gloomy look.

You can't look anything but long-faced when you are talking to her. It wouldn't be appropriate.

For Mamie wants to tell you all her troubles. The children are little demons. Her husband has always done something that gets her started on how inconsiderate or extravagant, or whatever, men are.

Mamie, herself, is usually dead-tired. Everything has been so hectic.

And she almost always has a few sad stories about mutual acquaintances.

You'd think from listening to her that she really had things tough.

NOT SO BADLY OFF

But the strange thing is—she doesn't actually. She has a husband who gives her, if not everything she wants, at least everything he can afford, including her own way in most things.

She has two healthy, normal children. She has a nice home, equipped with a good many luxuries.

She has health and a fair share of good looks. She could have a lot of friends, for she makes friends easily enough. But she doesn't hold them for long.

Because it is never any pleasure to see Mamie. She can always be counted on to give you a let-down instead of a lift.

And few people are willing to make an effort to see a person they know is going to make them feel worse instead of better.

Remember Mamie if your own troubles are your pet topic of conversation.

In Hollywood

EN ROUTE TO HOLLYWOOD

(NEA)—Coast to Coast:

Hollywood's gag writers and comedy cartoon makers, I'm discovering on a 6000-mile jaunt around the U.S., have brought out the ham in sign painters at the nations top tourist attractions. Prize samples:

At Niagara Falls, where you lean rain-soaked against the terrific spray of the American falls, a water-soaked sign reads: "NO SMOKING."

At the Royal Gorge, where a rock hangs over the 1000-foot drop to the Arkansas River, a neatly lettered sign reads: "MUSTN'T POINT."

Halfway to the top of Pike's Peak, beside the cog railroad tracks, there's an abandoned souvenir shack with a sign out front explaining: "GONE OUT OF BUSINESS. BANKRUPT BY HIGH-TAX HARRY."

FANCY EATERY

The famous Pump Room in Chicago's plush Ambassador Hotel East is known from coast to coast as THE place to dine in the Windy City. Any day now I suspect the Pump Room will be on television. It's 45 red-coated waiters, revolving salad table, flaming swords and coffee boy dressed like Tony Curtis as a movie prince, put on a better vaudeville show than Milton Berle has ever whistled through.

Hollywood glamor note in York, Penn.: A girl wearing an off-the-shoulder blouse driving a soft-drink truck.

The growth of drive-in theaters across the U.S. is astounding. The big cities have them and so do the smaller places like Laramie, Wyo. The big outdoor screen there rises just a few yards from an Indian massacre site.

Drive-ins are so popular in Milwaukee, Wis., that one, the "Twin-Vue," requires two screens to handle its large audience. There's a north entrance and a south entrance, with the same movies playing back to back.

Theaters once gave away automobiles and groceries to lure ma and dad to the movies. Now they're concentrating on the kids. A program no kid in town could resist had the boxoffice jingling for three days in Racine, Wis. The marquee spelled it out in Pled Piper fashion: "TWENTY FIVE—COUNT 'EM—CARTOONS—Two Extras."

A drive-in theater a mile from Atlantic, Iowa, has a permanent gimmick: "FREE PONY RIDES FOR KIDS."

The nation's highest TV receiving antenna undoubtedly is near Goodland, Kansas. A fellow there has installed atop a 400-foot grain elevator. But the nearest TV sending station is 150 miles away and the poor guy still hasn't been able to bring in a picture on his set.

"Jungle Book" and the "Thief of Bagdad," two of Sabu's 10-year-old movies that died and went to television, are back playing the regular theater circuits in the east and mid-west. The box office report: "Excellent!" Proof that TV can bring back old movies as well as old stars.

Overheard on the radio in Nebraska:

"Do your cows snip at your feed and then leave it alone?"

Television doesn't have to blush about the age of its movies. The big attraction, over a weekend, at the main theater in Sabula, Ill., was the moth-eaten "All Quiet On the Western Front."

From coast to coast, owners of roadside cafes have found sales magic in the word California. Signs proclaim everything from "California Hamburgers" to "California service."

BILLBOARD MYSTERY

The price of billboard space on the iron fence around the White House is the big buzz in Washington. A contractor named John MacShain is remodeling the presidential mansion. When he arrived to do the job, he stuck up his eight foot square shingle for all to see.

A couple of days later it was missing. Then it appeared again, and it's still there.

Whether MacShain made a contribution to the Democratic party for the prize billboard space, or whether the ethics of a contractor's sign in front of the White House was considered, are two questions with no answers.

If you've wondered what happened to the good five cent cup of coffee that faded away with inflation, stop at the Ranch House in Canon City, Colo. The owner, a rugged individualist, is still serving five cent a cup coffee. Good, too.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Hand Proves Experts Are Slick

These days most of the good bridge players in St. Paul are busy polishing up their bidding and play in preparation for the All-American regional tournament to be held there in the middle of October. In my opinion some of them are already too slick to need any polishing, as today's hand proves.

West's penalty doubles were a bit on the hungry side, but he could have set either two diamonds or two hearts. East's double of three clubs were probably influenced by the fact that his partner had already doubled both suits. This double turned out to be a little too hungry, however, since declarer managed to make the contract.

West opened the jack of spades, dummy covered with the king, and East took his ace and then the queen of spades. When East continued with a low spade, South properly discarded a low diamond. West ruffed with the ten of clubs, and everything fell into place neatly for the declarer, Leo Seewald, of St. Paul.

It was obvious that West had good hearts and diamonds since he had doubled those suits. He had already shown out of spades, and his ten of clubs was an obvious singleton. Seewald therefore had the advantage of knowing the location of every card as early as the third trick.

West returned a low heart, and dummy won with the queen. Declarer next cashed the ace of hearts, discarding the six of diamonds, and entered his hand by ruffing dummy's last spade. Seewald's next step was to cash the ace of diamonds and ruff the ten of diamonds in dummy.

When a low heart was returned from dummy, East could do nothing better than discard his last spade, and South was able to ruff with the seven of clubs. Declarer continued by ruffing his last diamond with dummy's jack

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
 South West North East
 1 Spade Pass 3 Dims Pass
 3 Spades Pass 3 N. T. Pass

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-10-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamond 2, Clubs K-6-4. What do you do?

A—Bid four clubs or four no-trump. You intend to reach a slam in spades, and there is nothing very wrong with an immediate jump to six spades. However,

Questions and Answers

Q—Was "Uncle Tom's Cabin" originally published in a Washington newspaper?

A—It first appeared in the National Era, an anti-slavery weekly published in Washington, D. C., by Dr. Gamaliel Bailey.

Q—Where was America's first glass factory located?

A—At Jamestown, Va. It was established in 1608.

Q—How long has the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City been under construction?

A—The Cathedral was begun in 1892. When completed it will be the largest example of Gothic architecture in the world.

Q—According to the ancients, what animal had the ability to see through the thickest of walls?

A—Greek and Roman legend attributes such powers to the lynx, whence the epithet "lynx-eyed."

Q—Have the New York Yankees ever played the Boston Barbs in a World Series?

A—The Braves are the only National League team the Yankees have not faced in World Series competition.

It is better to go slowly since it may be possible to bid and make a grand slam. The important thing is not to bid a tame four spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamonds, 9-7-5-2, Club 3. What do you do?

Physical Appearance Certainly Is Important; But It Is Often Very Difficult to Change

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There is no use pretending that physical appearance does not matter a great deal in life. Unfortunately it is rarely that anything can be done to transform the looks.

Q—I want to get rid of an ugly bulge of fat on the inside of my thighs. It is not only uncomfortable but unsightly in a bathing suit. Do you know of anything that might help?—R.G.

A—It is extremely doubtful that anything would help with the possible exception of removal by surgery. Whether the latter should be tried can only be decided after conference with a surgeon.

Q—I have a nephew in Korea who had frozen hands and feet. He wrote that he had to give up smoking. I have since found out that smoking was bad for anyone with frost bite. I thought others would be interested.—Mrs. F.M.T.

A—Yes, and for almost any condition which affects harmfully the circulation in the limbs.

Q—Is drinking alcoholic beverages every day to the point of intoxication going to harm a person with anxiety neurosis and hypertension?—D.S.

A—It certainly won't help.

Q—Since birth my son has had only one testicle and the other has not descended. What should be done to correct this? He is now four years old.—Mrs. J.L.

A—Before long the doctor may give him hormones to try to bring the other down. If this does not succeed it will probably be best to have surgery before he reaches the age of puberty.

Q—What can be done for small red broken veins on the sides of the nose? Are there any injections like those for varicose veins?

—Mrs. R. R.

A—This sort of thing cannot be treated by injections and is usually left alone.

Q—My teeth are turning black and no matter what I use to clean them I cannot remove the black stain. I have taken a lot of calcium and also drink well water that has a lot of iron in it. Could it be either of these that is affecting me?—Mrs. A. H.

A—The iron is what is almost certainly staining the teeth. Better try water from some other source that does not contain iron.

Q—How can bowleggedness be cured? I have it mostly in my left leg and would like it to be straighter.—Miss K.V.R.

A—Usually it cannot be straightened in a grownup. It is generally the result of childhood caught early enough in childhood something can often be done by diet (vitamin D) and orthopedic treatment.

Q—I am a recent bride. My husband has had attacks of rheumatic fever and rheumatoid arthritis before we were married. If we have children will they inherit this illness?—Mrs. J.V.P.

A—Neither of these diseases is inherited from the parents.

Q—We make summer sausage and have been eating it. Would smoking be enough to kill the parasite trichinosis about which you wrote?—Mrs. A.W.G.

A—If the sausage is made from uncured meat as I understand is the case, the parasite if present could live through a smoking. Only thorough cooking will destroy it.

Pegler Attempts to Prove That Democracy Is the New State Religion of the United States

(COPYRIGHT, 1949, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The new state religion of "democracy" is the only religion which is taught in our public school system. It is religion similar in important ways to the faith in the state which Adolf Hitler's regime taught children who soon were to die for asism which many of them believed with fanatic emotion. This "democracy" is still fuzzy like a cloud and its priests disagree on minor particulars. Henry Wallace could not define "democracy" off-hand nor could Eleanor Roosevelt. If they tried, independently, it would be seen that their versions were only similar, at best, but not alike, except in one particular. Both would depict it as a faith and it is alarming to some of us to understand that the faith of these two is the new religion of our new state.

This is a serious development which not only parents but all other citizens should take serious note of. The majority of public school-teachers are not educated but just persons who have been taught lessons and their qualifications are not intellectual but mental. They are not scholars but "graduates" like pharmacists. This "democracy" is a new ism which was applied with full force on their generation for the first time. They were not equipped to cope with it or examine it. The generation just before had heard strange prattle about "democracy" from the Wilson Democrats, but until the first inauguration of F. D. Roosevelt, a sufficient number of us had the experience and skepticism to recognize it as propaganda for the Democratic party.

Then came the generation after the first world war and they were swept off their feet by the waves of Roosevelt and Communist propaganda for "democracy."

In time, as the eastern ideologians of the Democratic party became the dominant influence in the party and the Roosevelt government, always turning to Europe for ideas which the American pioneers had turned their backs on, "democracy" shucked the cliches of the party platform and became an ism. Jim Farley was a good party man in the homely political sense of the word. He may be still but I doubt it. How can he be when he is also a Catholic in religion and this state "democracy" which is now more boldly thrust forth as the real philosophy of the Democratic party is frankly Godless? It is not a Christian religion. It is not Jewish. It is nothing that any standard American of the vast majority would recognize as a religion at all. But it does profess to be a faith and it is being pressed upon the children in the public schools by force of a power which works through unions of teachers and parents, politicians and propagandists.

A number of cases have been carried to the Supreme court in which citizens of a community desired that their children be taught something of the Christian religion in the public schools or that they join in prayer once or twice a day. This surely is no business of the national state in Washington. But invariably this desire has been disallowed. Because the national state has bought its way into the school system with lunches and building veto teaching contrary to its own subsidies, the national state may politics.

But "democracy" has been taught more and more boldly and the meaning of this thing has been widened until now it is, with little concealment, hammered into the young as a religion, a faith. All other faiths or religions are heresies.

I quoted recently from a letter by the Rt. Rev. Mgr. James T. McNamara, rector of the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist in Savannah referring to the dedication of democracy. Democracy being the rule of the majority, then the majority must be right and therefore democracy perfect. Therefore why not teach it boldly, belligerently as a religion.

On this subject I refer to an article in the little Saturday Review of Literature, a strange thing whose essays often are too muddy for comprehension. In a recent number one H. M. Kallen, of the notorious new school for social research, carried on wretchedly about this new state religion. The new school has had many adventures which should put us on the alert in reading its proposals but the sly part that it played in making it possible for Hanna Eisler, the anti-American Communist, to stay in this country is a flagrant performance in its cloudy record. Misrepresentations were made in the school's statements for the sole purpose of permitting him to get around the law.

The new school people sometimes sound inarticulate or super-intellectual when they are actually pioneering.

Kallen speaks of "the democratic faith" and, after a few inches of ideological swerve or double-talk we find him speaking of "the religion of democracy."

Now he is saying "for the communicants of the democratic faith it is the religion of and for-religions—"

And "democracy is the method by which hitherto inflexible and unadjustable infallibilities may be adjusted to one another and live together as a communion of the different on equal terms. Democracy as such a way of life, science as such a way of thought, have so worked that belief attributes to them powers of salvation from fear and want, from bondage to nature, to men and to creeds—"

And, "the religion of science and democracy is no less a religion than any other."

And this is the only religion that may be taught, the only religion that is being taught in the public schools.

It is no reflection on the intelligence of those Americans who are old-fashioned party Democrats to say that all this is news to them. They are still thinking in terms of political jobs.

So They Say

The nice part about research is that it doesn't promise anything but opportunity. It doesn't promise security—you have to work for it.—Dr. Harlan L. Trumbull, research scientist, B. F. Goodrich Co.

The position of Italy as a member of the North Atlantic treaty is inconsistent with the military clauses of the peace treaty, (which limit Italy's armed forces to 300,000 men). The Italian government asks for international action which would sanction the extinction of the spirit of the treaty and harmonize it with the present situation.

—Mario Lucicelli, Italian charge d'affairs.

If Western Europe is attacked it will be defended—and not liberated.

400 Have Date With Death in Autos Over Labor Day; Ways To Dodge Crashes Suggested

DETROIT (AP)—Over the coming Labor Day weekend some 400 persons will die in traffic accidents.

They don't have to die that way but they will—for a variety of reasons.

Some will die because of carelessness; some in an effort to travel too many miles in too few hours, resulting in fatigue. Some will die because of a disinclination to yield the right of way to the other driver.

Mostly they will die because millions of motorists underestimate the responsibility of piloting a couple of tons of fast moving metal over heavily congested highways.

Greatest Man Killer
It has been said that the automobile is one of the greatest boons of the modern era. It is also one of the greatest man-killers of all time. The 400 marked to die on the nation's highways during the coming holiday weekend will join a tragic host, numbering nearly 1,000,000, who have died in motor-vehicle mishaps during the last 50 years.

That, some experts say, is a greater loss of life than the United States has suffered in all the wars it ever fought.

Authoritative sources estimate some 35,000,000 drivers will be on the highways during the weekend. They estimate another 75,000,000 persons will be on the highways as passengers and that around 4,000,000 automobile miles will be traveled between Friday evening and Tuesday morning.

Doesn't Seem High
So, on the basis of past experience, the estimate of 400 probable fatalities doesn't seem too high. Of course, there will be many thousands of persons injured, some slightly—some permanently.

The total could be sharply reduced through intelligent trip planning—and a realization that traffic accidents don't always happen to the "other fellow," that they can happen to you.

Aside from common sense precautions concerning condition of your car, intelligent advance trip planning can do much to reduce traffic accidents, according to Richard Bennett, traffic engineer.

Bennett, traffic consultant to the National Association of Mutual Automotive Insurance companies, recommends that mileage objectives be determined in advance and that they be reasonable.

Here are a few other suggestions Bennett offers in the interest of safety: When fatigue indicates you should get off the road, the thing to do is to get off.

Start Early Enough
When you know how long your trip will require, start early enough to make the best of traffic conditions. Relax behind the wheel. Don't let other drivers irritate you. It's better to arrive safely than win a race that may cost a life.

Don't let your passengers distract you. If you have children in the car accept the fact their presence constitutes an additional driving hazard. A bottle warmer attached to the dashboard is recommended for the very young and a thermos jug of milk or water for older children as means of avoiding unnecessary stops.

Characters! Characters! Every Office Has 'em, Says Hal Boyle

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the best ways to study people is to watch how they come to work in the morning.

The way you enter the office each day tips off your character almost as much as if you sat down and wrote the story of your life.

Over the years certain types become familiar. Recognize them in your office? For example—

The workhorse—who tries to make the best of it—He gets off the elevator and says, "Well, back to the old salt mine. Heh, heh, heh." Somehow this type never gets lockjaw or a new phrase.

Accuses Everyone
The fellow who thinks a good offense is the best defense—he shows up with puffy circles under his eyes and trots around yelping at everyone accusingly. "And where were you last night?"

The suburban gardener—he arrives with his arms in bandages and bleating. "I can't understand it. I plant tomatoes, and what comes up? Poison ivy. I can't understand it."

The junior executive—He is trying so hard to get ahead he even calls his mother by her first name. He breezily asks everybody in the elevator how they are and gives the operator a cigar on the way out.

Chronic Coward
The chronic-coward-who-is-always-five-minutes-late—He hits the door muttering feverishly, "Gee, my kid's sick . . . the alarm clock didn't go off . . . I just barely missed that bus, too."

The sultry stenographer—This 40-hour-week vampire halts a moment in the doorway like Madame Pompadour in her boudoir. Then she dimples and says, "Oh, you!" at some male sally. She is dreaming of running her fingers through Clark Gable's hair under an apple tree. But in five more years she'll be married to the office book-keeper, and going around the house barefooted.

Lend Me Five
The gambler—"Give you five to three against the Dodgers," he says. "That is, if you'll lend me the five."

There they are. If you didn't see them come to work in your office this morning, wait half an hour and go downstairs. You'll find them all sitting around the drug-store or cafeteria counter—having coffee.

Claims To Be Daughter of Jesse James

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Frank Dalton's claim that he was outlaw Jesse James wasn't buried with him in Texas this month. A Decatur woman is keeping Dalton's story alive.

She is Mrs. Harriet James Redding who formerly claimed she was a third cousin of Jesse James. Since attending Dalton's funeral in Granbury, Tex., on Aug. 19, she claims she is his daughter.

Accepted reference works relate that James was slain by one of his own men in his home in St. Joseph, Mo., in 1882.

Dalton, who died Aug. 15 at the age of 107, claimed that the man who was killed and buried as Jesse James was a Charles Bigelow. Dalton said he dropped the names of James, went into hiding and revealed himself as the real Jesse James only after he was 100 years old.

Mrs. Redding said she is sure Dalton was James and his brought home some mementoes, including Dalton's last hat and a necktie.

She said that even in the casket Dalton's body bore the mark of rope burns on his neck. These, she added, were made by an early attempt to hang James. His life was saved when his mother cut him down, she said.

It also bore what he said were 33 bullet wounds and deformed

Reducing Diet, With Fat, Called Success, Report

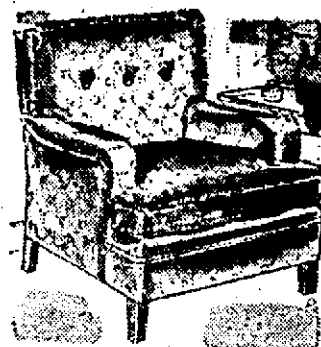

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A reducing diet containing fat—that's right, fat—was reported today by Cornell university's school of nutrition.

The new diet was labeled a success by the university. It was described as moderate in fat—long a taboo in reducing diets—high in protein, and low in carbohydrates. Then students, averaging 20 to 400 pounds overweight, tried the diet for two months. Each lost an average of 18 pounds without feeling hungry, the university said.

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard K. Pilgrim are the parents of a daughter born Aug. 25 at the Rochelle hospital.

CONVICT KILLERS

AMMAN, Jordan, (AP) — A special military court today sentenced to death six men convicted of plotting the assassination of King Abdullah. Four other defendants were found not guilty and freed.

One coffee tree yields about 1.68 pounds of roasted coffee per year.

Judge Admits Hearst Will To Probate

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The will of Publisher William Randolph Hearst has been admitted to probate.

Approved by Superior Judge Newcomb: Condee yesterday, the document disposes of an estate estimated to be worth more than $200,000,000. It establishes three trusts, one for the widow, Mrs. Millicent W. Hearst of New York; another for the publisher's five sons, and a third for charitable and similar enterprises.

The court approved a family allowance of $120,000 to Mrs. Hearst, pending disposition of the estate.

Attorney for the estate said that Miss Marion Davies, Hearst's long-time friend and confidante, is the beneficiary of a trust fund of 30,000 shares of Hearst Corp. preferred stock but will receive only the income, the principal going at her death to Hearst's sons.

There was no mention at the probate hearings of an agreement which published reports over the weekend said gave voting control of the Hearst Corporation to Miss Davies.

Goodyear Agrees To Wage Increase

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the CIO United Rubber Workers today announced a wage agreement providing 13-cent hourly pay boosts to nearly 26,000 workers in Goodyear plants in 10 cities.

The other three members of the rubber industry's big four—Goodrich, Firestone and U. S. Rubber—already have agreed to similar 13-cent pay boosts for URW members.

Santiago, Chile is named for Saint James.

Compton Couple Attends 'True Vow' Meeting

FREEPORT, (AP) — A hundred thirty sweethearts gathered here Sunday for an afternoon of quiet fun.

The 65 couples, all of whom had been wed 50 years or more, came from throughout northwestern Illinois for the annual gathering of the True Vow Keepers, sponsored by the Freeport Ministerial Association.

Prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Orson Van Fleet of Belvidere, whose record of 68 years of marriage was the longest, and to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Beemer of Compton, Ill., 68 miles south of Freeport, who traveled the greatest distance to attend.

Perons Keep Mum On Argentina Election Plans

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — President Peron and his blonde wife, Eva, kept the country guessing today as to whether they would "bow to popular will" to become man-and-wife rulers of Argentina for the next six years.

Rumors persist among opposition and even some pro-Peron sources that Mrs. Peron will decline the vice-presidential nomination.

Formal nomination by the Peronista party was handed to the couple yesterday, putting them up as running mates for the Nov. 11 election. But they would not commit themselves to formal acceptance of the nomination.

70-Year-Old Man Jumps to Death From Ninth Floor

NEW YORK — (AP) — A ninth-floor window of Macy's department store. A man teetering on the ledge. Thousands gazing anxiously from below. Then a plunge.

This was the real life drama enacted during the height of last night's rush hour in the heart of Manhattan's shopping district.

Police said many were endangered by the plunging body of John Pilgrim, 70, a Hoboken, N. J., iron moulder.

The body landed on a metal awning, then rolled to the edge and dropped seven feet to the sidewalk.

Later, Pilgrim's widow, Anna, said he had been ill recently. He had come to New York to shop on his day off.

Michigan Demos Backing Truman

MACKINAC ISLAND, MICH. — (AP) — Michigan's Democrats want President Truman to run for reelection next year.

The Democratic State Central committee, which heads the party in Michigan, expressed the desire and pledged its support of Truman at its midsummer conference here yesterday.

Michigan's Democrats thus became among the first to back Truman for 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson and Charles were Sunday dinner guests in the Arthur Obendorf home.

Rita Hayworth Going to Reno For Divorce

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Rita Hayworth is going to Reno this week to divorce Prince Aly Khan.

Her lawyer, Bartley Crum, told reporters he is convinced there is no point in further discussions with representatives of the Moslem prince over a financial settlement.

Rita reportedly has been asking for $3,000,000 for their 18-month-old daughter, Yasmin, but Aly is said to have offered to establish a $250,000 trust fund for the child. The actress found this unacceptable.

Dixonite Back From a Summer Spent in Europe

By BEVERLY STROUSS

An interesting trip through Europe was taken on a recent afternoon by your society editor, as she listened to Mrs. Ralph Sizman, 216 Morgan street, re-live her summer trip abroad. In her pleasing manner, Mrs. Sizman told of the fabulous sights and events seen while traveling with the Campus Tours, Incorporated.

Sailing from New York, June 27, Mrs. Sizman's group traveled on the M. V. Georgic. On their return the 18 people with the Dixonite, who had come from all over the United States, and other touring groups on board ship, docked in New York Aug. 20.

Among the countries visited were: Ireland, Scotland, England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Monaco and France.

Meets Mrs. Barthelme
Passengers on the same ship as Mrs. Sizman were Mrs. Florence Rudolph Barthelme and her daughter, Joan of California. Mrs. Barthelme is a sister of Miss Rosa Rudolph, Dixon.

"Beautiful," best describes the trip, made by the Dixonite from Colibez, Germany, to Weisbaden in the same country. A visit to Baden Baden, Germany, the birthplace of Mrs. Sizman's father, John Gabriel of Cedar Bluffs, Neb., was also a highlight of the visit to this area.

Snowballs in July
An Alpine trip was taken by the travelers through the Alps into Switzerland on a path which had been blocked by snow for three weeks. They went through an ice cave and on July 20, made snow balls.

Travel was by bus, train and boat train. Stops were made at Monte Carlo and along the French Riviera on the way to Nice. While in Nice, Mrs. Sizman stayed at the Hotel Royal where her room overlooked the Mediterranean. Another interesting feature of the room was that it had two balconies.

Audience With Pope
A day and a half was spent sightseeing in Rome and 24 hours were spent in Naples. While at the Vatican the Americans were given an audience with the Pope.

An excursion was taken to Versailles and six days were spent in Paris, a boon to the women travelers. While in Paris the group did much sightseeing and shopping. They saw the Folies Bergere in Paris and also attended the opera.

Skirts Are Short
While in Paris they attended a fashion show and according to Mrs. Sizman, the dresses for this season will be short.

When she visited Glasgow, Scotland, the Dixonite entertained Miss Nina Wilson, aunt of Gordon Wilson, Dixon, at dinner. Another memory of Scotland will be the picking of Heather.

Memories of London
The historic Changing of the Guards at Buckingham Palace was witnessed by the campus group. Mrs. Sizman also recalled attending church at Westminster Abbey and seeing the White Cliffs of Dover as she told of her trip.

Rock River Grange Hears Jim Somers

When Rock River Grange, 1921, met at the Loveland Community House recently, Master Robert Tourtellot conducted the opening ceremony. At this time he conferred the first two degrees of Grange work on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kunde who were welcomed as new members.

James Somers, Lee county farm adviser, showed slides and talked on "Good Land Use Practices." There were 20 members and five guests present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. W. Woessner, Mrs. Charles Dieterle, Mrs. Sidney Buckaloo and Mrs. Leon Brooks.

The next meeting which will be "Booster Night" will be held at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 12, at the Loveland Community House.

Young Mothers Plan Tea for This Thursday

Members of the Young Mothers club will hold their annual tea which will also be their first social activity of the season, Thursday, Aug. 30. The tea will be held from 2 until 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ronald Potter, 616 Palmyra ave.

Every member is urged to attend and bring a guest, if they wish.

Auxiliary Social

The Amvets auxiliary will have an ice cream social, Friday evening, Aug. 31 at 6:30 o'clock. The social, for which Mrs. John Cramer and Mrs. Carroll Yeast are chairmen, will be held at 410 North Galena ave. There will be curb service.

Steward Bride Is Honored at Shower In Church Parlors

STEWART—The new Mrs. William Donald Jones, the former Phyllis Marie Ravnaas of Stewart, was honored at a miscellaneous shower preceding her marriage at the Steward Methodist church parlors. Hostesses were a committee of friends.

Lavender and green decorated the parlors for the event and the serving table had a miniature church for a centerpiece. Green candelabra tied with lavender ribbons were placed on each side of the church and a silver coffee service graced each end of the table. Mrs. Martin Ravnaas and Mrs. Phillip Person of Rockford, poured.

To open the party music was played by Shirley Ravnaas. Mrs. Carolyn Ackland gave two readings; Darlene Jones sang two solos accompanied by Pauline Jones; a reading was given by Mrs. Herman Danekas and Florence Cook told incidents she remembers about Phyllis and Donald.

Assist With Gifts
Assisting the hostess in opening her many gifts were her sisters: Mrs. Murlin Totten and Mrs. Wayne Kersten; her mother, Mrs. William Ravnaas and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. William Jones and her two daughters, Darlene and Pauline. Mary Beth Cook and Mrs. Lawrence Tastad of Rochelle assisted at the gift table. Mrs. Lloyd Wicks, Rockford, had charge of the guest book.

Over 100 friends and relatives attended the shower coming from Ashton, Creston, Rochelle, West Brooklyn, Rockford and Chana.

Methodist WSCS Plans Fall Luncheon

Members of the WSCS of the Methodist church are planning a fall luncheon to be held Thursday, Sept. 6, at 1 o'clock in the church dining room. All women of the church are invited to attend and asked to call Mrs. Edward Blum or Mrs. Lyle Jeffers (phones 2-4201 or 3-5561) for reservations by the end of this week.

Mrs. Alvin E. Pfeiffer of Aurora, president of the Rock river conference of the WSCS, will give a talk at 2 o'clock. Her subject will be, "New Frontiers for Women."

LADIES AID TO MEET
The Ladies Aid of Grace Evangelical U. B. church will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the church. Members and friends are urged to attend.

WAR II MOTHERS
Mothers of World War II will meet for sewing at the home of Mrs. Viola Strub at 9 a.m. Wednesday. There will be a sack lunch at noon.

Elect Mrs. A. J. Wells, Dixon, President of County WCTU

When the Lee County WCTU convention was held at Loveland Community House, Dixon, last Thursday, Mrs. A. J. Wells of Dixon was elected county president for 1951-52. Other county officers elected were: Mrs. N. W. Dietrich, Dixon, vice president; Mrs. Fred Lewis, Amboy, recording secretary; Mrs. Clifford Blocher, Franklin Grove, treasurer, and Mrs. Louis Zigler, Dixon, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Lillian Derr and Mrs. Abner Deets were in charge of registration for the convention which began in the morning. County president, Mrs. D. J. Lichty, presided at the meeting with Mrs. Norman W. Dietrich, county vice president, acting as secretary for the day. Mrs. Harvey Cline county Spiritual Life chairman, had charge of the morning devotions and Mrs. Emma Hill led the pledge to the American, Christian and Temperance flags. The yearly reports of the Dixon, Franklin Grove and Amboy unions were given.

Mrs. Robert Cupp, Franklin Grove, sang a solo, "My Task" and a vocal trio of Mrs. G. M. Beardslee, Mrs. Cupp and Rev. Bill Rabor, sang "The Glory Road."

A potluck dinner was served at noon with Miss Flora Seals in charge of the noontide hour of prayer. As the afternoon meeting began, Mrs. Beardslee had charge of devotions. Mrs. Lichty installed the new county officers.

Hear Mr. Batt
Rev. Samuel Batt of the Grace Evangelical U. B. church, Dixon, was the afternoon's speaker. He spoke on "Alcoholism—A Major Health Problem."

A memorial service was given by Mrs. Dietrich in honor of Mrs. Violet Heinbaugh Parks and also to honor the birthday of the founder of the WCTU, Frances Willard, which occurs Sept. 26.

Rev. Bill Rabor sang a solo and a vocal duet was sung by Mrs. Beardslee and Mrs. Cupp. WCTU convention will be held in Champaign, Ill., Oct. 23 through 26.

Mrs. J. E. Goodballet, a guest from Polo, reported on last year's state WCTU convention at Mattoon.

Mt. Morris Girl, Minnesota Man to Wed in September

MT. MORRIS—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Huthansel announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Florence Gertrude, to Kenneth E. Midtaune, son of Mrs. Julia Midtaune, Hendricks, Minn.

Sept. 25, has been set as the date for which the wedding will take place at Hendricks, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Huthansel will attend their daughter's wedding.

Florence is a graduate of Mt. Morris high school with the class of 1937, and now is a nurse at Community Hospital in Hendricks.

Milwaukee Nurse Is Bride of Charles Richard Ross, Amboy

The chapel of Milwaukee hospital, Milwaukee, Wis., of whose nursing school the bride is a graduate, was the setting Thursday afternoon, Aug. 16, for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Ann Barta, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Barta, Lodi, Wis., and Charles Richard Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ross, Amboy.

The young couple repeated their wedding vows at 2 p.m. after the Rev. Floyd Litchfield, pastor of the Blue River, Wis., Methodist church, assisted by his father, the Rev. L. L. Litchfield, pastor of the Methodist church, Lodi, Wis.

Ballerina Gown
The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Lester Madison, Lodi, chose a ballerina length dress of white nylon lace over taffeta. She wore matching lace gauntlets and her chapel length veil was held in place with a tiara of pearl orange blossoms. White rose buds centered with an orchid formed her bouquet.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Lester Madison, of Lodi, was gowning in a ballerina length dress of navy lace over taffeta. With it she wore a navy lace hat and matching lace gauntlets. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Wesley Killmer of Dixon attended his cousin as best man and Dr. Paul K. Morgan, Prairie du Sac, Wis., ushered.

Sister Clara, of the Lutheran Deaconess Motherhouse of Milwaukee hospital, played an organ prelude preceding the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Mrs. Michael Snyder, Milwaukee, a nursing school classmate of the bride, as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother chose a navy dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy print with navy accessories. Corsages of pink lilies were worn by both.

Reception at Surf
A reception at The Surf in Milwaukee, followed the ceremony. Assisting were: Mrs. Wesley Killmer, Dixon, and Miss Marilyn Gruendemann, Mrs. Paul Morgan and Miss Florence Sprecher, all of Prairie du Sac, Wis.

When the newlyweds left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a navy shantung suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Reside Near Amboy
After a two week honeymoon through Northern Wisconsin, Michigan and Canada, the newlyweds will be at home to their friends at the Ross farm near Amboy.

Millionaire Leaves $100 To His Widow

DALLAS —(AP)—The will of millionaire oil man Thomas W. Doswell, 55, who was shot to death last week as he sat in his parked car, provided $100 in cash for his widow.

The bulk of the estate went to a brother, Houston J. Doswell of Weatherford, Tex. The will was filed for probate yesterday.

Mrs. Rebecca Doswell, 52, was charged with murder last Wednesday in the fatal shooting of her husband. Doswell died of a bullet wound inflicted as he sat with his wife in their Cadillac sedan, parked in front of a fashionable Dallas residential hotel where they lived.

The will left all his "real, personal and mixed property, including cash deposited in banks," to his brother.

Other bequests were $100 each to two other relatives, Christina Schmuck Doswell and Nellie Grandsen Doswell.

The Doswells were married about three years ago.

Police Search For Murderer Of Hotel Clerk

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—The search for the kidnaper of Mrs. Lewana Newman, pretty Miami beach hotel clerk, was intensified today after the body was found beside a lonely farm road.

She had been shot through the head and thrown into a weed patch. O. D. Henderson, chief sheriff's deputy, called it a "vicious murder" by a robber.

The 23-year-old woman was last seen alive before dawn Wednesday at the desk of the Gould hotel on the ocean front north of Miami Beach. The next morning, bloodstains, one of her shoes, a belt buckle and an earring were found outside the hotel entrance.

A cash drawer had been looted of $925.

A search of the sand dunes and back roads of the North Miami Beach area by marines, police and civilians was climaxed yesterday by the finding of her body.

Mrs. Newman was separated from her second husband, CHICAGO.

The Boveys Miss Dixon Friends

John Bovey, popular Dixonite, who has moved, with his wife and son, to Tucson, Ariz., writes that they are all enjoying life in their new home very much, although they miss their old friends in Dixon. They have purchased a new ranch type home at 2020 N. Norton av., in Tucson. John is manager of the Crystal Coca Cola Co., 313 N. Sixth av., Tucson. They will be glad to have mail or visits from Dixon friends.

Social Security Payments Up 140 Per Cent Over '50

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Social Security insurance payments are up 140 per cent over last year because of the 1950 amendment which extended benefits to more people and boosted the amounts paid almost everyone.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing said yesterday that August payments, for example, amounted to $147,075,000 to 4,150,000 persons as compared with $61,641,000 to 2,967,055 in August 1950.

Persons who formerly got $26 a month average old-age retirement now get about $48; minimum payments of $10 were doubled; maximum old-age insurance payments of $48 now are $68.50; top payment to a family of an insured wage owner is now $150 a month.

The program is financed by payroll deductions, and not general taxation, Ewing emphasized.

Jesus Was No Sociologist, He Tells Youth

LAFAYETTE, Ind., (AP)—A theologian told 4,700 young Methodists today that "Jesus was a specialist in religion, not in sociology."

In an address prepared for delivery at the opening session of the national conference of Methodist youth at Purdue university, W. Aiken Smart, associate dean of Chandler School of Theology, Emory university, Atlanta, Ga., said: "Democracy has been called 'Christianity in politics', but Jesus lived under a despotic totalitarianism and never attacked it. He used the institution of slavery in some of his stories, but he never suggested freeing the slaves. Similarly he never attacked drinking, nor gambling, nor did he speak about international relations."

"The simple fact is that Jesus was a specialist in religion, not in sociology. The primary fact in all life for him was God. Social change has flowed as a result from his great religious passion, and will continue to flow, but it is a result and will cease to flow if its source is cut off."

Rochelle Tavern Operator Named In Divorce Suit

OREGON—Mrs. June Dobbs has filed a petition for divorce with Circuit Clerk Homer Althouse against Allen Dobbs, Rochelle tavern operator.

Dobbs was arrested last week on complaint that he beat his wife. He is free on $3,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to commit mayhem.

The Dobbs were married Sept. 16, 1946, in Rockford and have one child 3 1/2 years old. Mrs. Dobbs asks for the custody of the child, support of the child and alimony.

According to the petition, Dobbs owns a half interest in the Hub tavern, Rochelle. An injunction has been issued against Dobbs preventing him from disposing of any property or molesting his wife.

Republicans and Democratic leaders then agreed to recess to avert a threatened all night session. Further action was put off until today.

Police Get Report Of Auto Collision

Cars driven by Fairie Means, 1903 First st., and Ralph Bohn, 520 E. Mc Kenney st., collided yesterday afternoon in front of the Freeman shoe factory on First street, according to police.

Mrs. Means was driving west on First street and started to pass the Bohn car, which was double parked in front of the shoe factory, when the Bohn car backed up, police said.

Truman Has Power to Curb Aid Now--Kem

Senators Say New Bill Lacks Teeth To Limit Shipments

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Administration forces in the senate fought today to win approval of a bill they contend would erect a barrier to shipments of war useful goods to the Communists.

A group of Republicans, denouncing the measure as weak and ineffective, claimed growing support for a move to replace it with one of their own devising.

At issue is a house-passed bill, bearing the name of Rep. Battle (D-Ala.), which would prohibit all U.S. aid—Military, economic or financial—to any nation engaged in shipment of war potential goods to Russia and her satellites.

It would give the administration some discretion in enforcement—a feature which the Republicans criticized.

"Lacks Teeth"

Senator Kem (R-Mo.), one of the GOP forces' quarterbacks, said the measure "lacks teeth."

All the administration needs to do, Kem said, is to enforce an amendment to a money bill he sponsored last June ordering President Truman to halt all economic aid to any country furnishing war-potential goods to nations in the Soviet orbit. The National Security Council has "made exceptions, as it is empowered to do if it finds the national security requires them."

The Battle bill is backed by the administration, which contends the Kem amendment is of more harm than help because it is too rigid.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), floor manager for the new bill, told his colleagues yesterday that some materials must be allowed to get through the iron curtain.

Rely on Coal

Many Western nations, he said, rely heavily on coal from Communist areas, and must trade to get it. Sparkman argued they would turn hostile eyes on the United States if they had to choose between a fuel shortage or loss of U.S. military and other support.

Kem's forces fought a delaying battle through yesterday afternoon and half the evening before allowing a test vote which finally put the measure squarely before the senate.

The vote was 32 to 29 on party lines.

Republican and Democratic leaders then agreed to recess to avert a threatened all night session. Further action was put off until today.

Clash on Issue
Kem and Sparkman clashed angrily when Kem asked whether the Alabama senator wasn't showing "a blind spot" toward trading with Communist areas while "American boys are dying" in Korea.

Banging his desk, Sparkman called the question "demagoguery," accused Kem of trying to "play on the heart strings" of soldiers' relatives to win a legislative tilt, and said nothing in the measure would justify Kem's suggestion.

Tenant Can Sue Landlord After Illegal Eviction

Philip C. Driscoll, director of the Rock Island rent office, said today that under the new rent law a landlord cannot evict a tenant for any reason he sees fit. For the first time the law provides for monetary damages in case of illegal eviction.

"A tenant illegally evicted may sue the landlord for what is called reasonable attorney's fees, court costs, one month's rent or 50 dollars, whichever is higher—or sue for as much as 150 dollars or three times the month's rent, whichever is greater," Driscoll said.

"By an illegal eviction," Driscoll continued, "I mean any action in which a tenant is required to vacate an apartment or flat, or for that matter, any housing accommodation for any reason not authorized by law."

For more information about illegal evictions visit the area rent representative at the Dixon rent station, in the basement of the Post Office building, Dixon, every Tuesday, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. (C.D.T.).

New Freight Rates Go Into Effect Today

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Higher freight rates—averaging 6.6 per cent for the country as a whole—went into effect today for most commodities handled by railroads.

The new rates, the ninth since World War II took effect at midnight local time throughout the nation after a 5-day public notice authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission rejected plans for a new general 15 per cent boost in rates.

Instead, it gave the rail lines permission to go ahead with a nine per cent boost in the east and six per cent elsewhere.

One special hold-down was ordered for grain and grain products, on which the increase will be an even six per cent regardless of territory. The railroads also were required to give a 30-day notice on the grain changes. These rates will therefore not go up until Sept. 12.

The revisions replace the temporary two to four per cent increases granted by ICC last April. They are estimated to yield about $564,000,000 a year new revenue to the rail systems.

Plane Crash Victims Are Identified

VANDALIA, (AP)—The bodies of four plane crash victims — a wealthy Arizona rancher's family — were removed to a St. Louis crematory today.

Their small private plane crashed in a residential Vandalia street yesterday. Residents said one wing and another plane part fell on their properties as the plane spun dizzily through trees and hit a parked car.

The dead were James L. Filor, 32; his wife, Elizabeth, 31, and their two sons, Ross, four and James Nicholas, six. They were flying to Pittsburgh from their 125,000 acre Yolo ranch, Camp Wood, near Prescott, Ariz.

Mrs. Filor's mother, Mrs. Edith Nichols of Baker, Ore., told police by telephone last night that the boxed remains of wreckage should contain several thousand dollars worth of the daughter's jewelry. Police sifted the pieces and recovered most valuables, including a $3,500 diamond and platinum bracelet, a partial string of pearls and other diamonds.

Filor was an airlines pilot in World War II. His wife also was an experienced pilot.

The family's remains were to be sent to Phoenix, Ariz., where the Filors had a home under construction. Filor's two sisters, Mrs. Ann Thompson and Mrs. Gertrude Lytton-Smith, wives of physicians, live at Phoenix.

Investigation into the cause of the crash, which occurred during a fog and rain, has not been completed.

'Mystery' Cars Involved in Dixon Crashes

A car listed by police as driven by "the party who lives at 409 E. Everett st." backed into a parked car owned by Tom Leppert, 808 E. Morgan st., yesterday morning.

Not much damage resulted, according to the police report.

And a car with license number 2-111-846 backed into the left side of a car owned by Pat Sharkey, 905 University av., yesterday, according to police.

Sharkey's car received damage to the left rear fender and hub cap.

The locations of the two accidents was not listed.

Indict Louisiana Newsmen for 'Defaming' 3 Known Gamblers

LAKE CHARLES, La.—(AP)—Five newspaper men who crusaded against wide open law violations are under indictment on charges of defaming three admitted gamblers and several public officials.

And the People's Action Group which instigated a special session of the grand jury to investigate law violations, is under order to give the grand jury a list of its members. The list had been kept secret to aid in the PAG's private investigations.

The Calcasieu parish grand jury refused to indict Sheriff Henry Reid whom the PAG had accused of malfeasance in office.

Five Named

Named in the indictments handed down yesterday were Thomas B. Shearman, publisher of the Lake Charles American Press; his son, William Hugh Shearman, co-publisher; Kenneth L. Dixon, managing editor; James W. Norton, city editor; and Carter George, police and court reporter.

They were accused of defaming Claude Williams, Sam Smith and E. J. Miller, three admitted gamblers and night club operators; District Attorney Griffin P. Hawkins; Assistant District Attorney Melvin H. Wetherill; the 13 members of the Calcasieu parish police jury, the parish governing body, and Sheriff Reid.

Pleading Guilty

Williams, Smith and Miller recently pleaded guilty in district court to gambling charges. They were fined and given suspended jail sentences.

Each of the indicted men posted $250 bond on each count on which he was indicted. There were five indictments in all totalling 14 counts.

Each count is punishable with a maximum of one year in jail and a $3,000 fine.

No date was set for arraignment.

Troops Camp in City of Detroit

DETROIT, (AP)—Battle-equipped army troops, reportedly numbering in the "hundreds" bivouacked in the immediate Detroit area today.

Without public advance notice, the troops entered the Detroit environs late yesterday by way of the Dearborn district.

A long convoy included anti-aircraft weapons, supply trucks, communications units, troop carriers and other equipment.

The maneuver, a show of might, was described by an army spokesman as a "test." The length of stay for the troops was not disclosed.

32 Cadets Apply For Entrance At Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, IND.—(AP)—If all the expelled West Point cadets who have applied for admittance to Notre Dame are accepted it will cost an anonymous benefactor $48,000 a year.

The donor recently offered to pay room, board and tuition at Notre Dame for any of the 80 cadets, under certain conditions. So far 32 have applied, 16 of them yesterday. University officials estimate the cost at $1,500 each per year.

The conditions are that the student meet Notre Dame scholastic requirements, need financial help and stay out of intercollegiate athletics. Sept. 1 is the deadline for applying.

The 80 cadets, many of them football players, were ousted from the military academy for cheating in examinations.

GOP Leader Says Truman Failed on Civil Rights Issue

BUFFALO, N.Y., (AP)—Guy G. Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican National committee, today termed the lack of a complete civil rights program "another glaring example of the unkept promises of the Democrats."

He made the statement in a prepared speech before the 52nd annual convention of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the world.

Gabrielson told the Negro fraternal organization, "You know and I know that we will never get civil rights legislation from the Democrats. President Truman refuses even to do the things he could do without the sanction of congress."

"Such things as abolishing segregation in the armed services, abolishing discrimination in federal employment, creating a permanent civil rights commission."

Demos Put Ike in Oregon Primary

SALEM, Ore., (AP)—Democrats beat Republicans in Oregon in putting up Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as a candidate for president.

Yesterday a group of Democrats filed petitions to put Eisenhower on the state's presidential primary ballot next May. There were 1,150 signatures although Oregon's law requires only 1,000. Permission of the candidate is not necessary.

Republicans said they will file their Eisenhower petitions later.

Iron Lung Chuted To Sailor at Sea Fails to Save Life

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The dramatic parachuting at sea of a portable chest respirator failed to save the life of a G.I.

The Aiken Victory radioed yesterday that Cpl. James A. Williams, 22, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was dead of polio. He had been placed in the respirator immediately after it had been taken aboard 871 miles from here Sunday.

A coast guard B-17 had dropped the 125-pound respirator in two waterproofed packages during a 12-hour flight.

Sultry Monday Ushers in New Grid Season

80 Report for First Drills; More Will Appear, Says Owens

It was a weary group of Dixon high school football candidates—about 80 of them—who walked from the practice field Monday at 8:15 p.m. They had just finished their first practice day of the season. And it had been a tough one. It was the beginning of the two-day drills outlined for them by Coach Sam Owens. These will continue until school starts.

The boys practiced from 9:30 to 11:15 a.m. and from 6:30 to 8:15 p.m. Monday. By evening the SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Cincinnati and Wichita square off today in a best two-out-of-three series for sectional American Legion junior baseball honors and a crack at the national pennant in Detroit starting Sept. 4.

The Lip Praises Irvin's Play in Giants' Flag Bid

NEW YORK, (AP)—Superstitious Leo Durocher, his famous lip tight on any pennant talk, compromised a little bit today to praise Monte Irvin's role in the New York Giants' sensational late flag rush.

"Monte is the most under-rated player in the league," the Giants manager said. "Every time I look up he gets the big hit."

If the Giants themselves had to pick one of their number who has furnished the most spark for their 16-game winning streak, the finger probably would point to the big speed merchant from Orange, N.J.

Terror On Paths

Batting .310 and a terror on the base paths, the six-foot-one, 195-pound Negro flycatcher is second only to Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner in runs-batted-in. He has 93 compared with the Pirate slugger's 94.

This is all the more impressive when you take into account that Kiner has hit 36 home runs while Irvin has connected for only 17. But Irvin has proved himself the "clutch hitter," he delivers when men are on base and when the Giants need a rally.

Irvin's value was never more vividly demonstrated than in yesterday's double victory over the Chicago Cubs—5-4 in 12 innings and 6-3.

Gets Crucial Hit

In the first game he laced out two singles in five times at bat, one of them in the crucial 12th to keep Giant hopes alive. Besides, he scored once from second on an infield out and stole a base.

In the second game he poled a long home run to right field and also contributed a single in four times at bat. During the day, the right-handed batter slashed two hits to rightfield, one to center and one to left—an inconsistency that forces quite normal pitchers into strait-jackets.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have had 17 different managers since 1890. The Giants have had 21 managers since 1876.

SHORT TAKES FROM HERE AND THERE

Coach Lon Scofield had some tough luck Monday when one of the basement walls of his new home crumbled.

BELATED CONGRATULATIONS to Coach and Mrs. Lloyd Swan, the proud parents of another girl, Nancy, weight, 6 pounds, 4 ounces.

From the morning's mail comes a "thank you" note from the Jim Mercers, directed to all of their Dixon friends. Now settled in Chicago, Jim, Sr., writes: "We do not intend to say goodbye, because we hope to get back often and will try to see some of the Dukes' games if possible. So we'll just make it 'so long.'"

FRED HOFMANN, a sometimes-violent Northwestern alum, takes exception to the glowing remarks about the Illinois football prospects for this fall which this column reported last week. Mr. Hoffman still is thinking blissfully about the Northwestern-Illinois debacle of last November.

Hoffman, incidentally, made a modest wager with a friend last winter on Northwestern to defeat Army in their game this fall. Now that Col. Blaik has lost practically his entire squad through the cribbing mess, Hoffman thinks the bet's a sure thing.

ADD GLOWING ILLINI TALES: Capt. Chuck Studley told us a bit about John Bauer, the big sophomore from Benton, when he was here last week. Said Studley: "Bauer weighs about 250 pounds and he's really a terror in the middle of the line. He should see a lot of action this season."

Bauer was an All-State fullback at Benton, but was switched to the line this spring at Illinois. Sounds like he may be another Leon Hart, doesn't it Fred?

Report MacArthur Offered Job As Baseball Czar, Refused

NEW YORK, (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur was promised the job of baseball commissioner by unanimous vote but turned it down, it was reported today.

The general was not immediately available for comment on the report but his aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, declining to confirm or deny it, said:

"As far as I know, the general has never given serious thought to the baseball commissionership." MacArthur was expected to make a statement later today.

The Chicago Tribune, in a Washington dispatch, quoted a baseball club owner as saying a committee representing the owners had spent three hours with the general last week in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel here.

Gen. MacArthur. The unidentified owner, according to the newspaper, said the committee had told the general he would be elected unanimously if he would accept. MacArthur reportedly replied that the "offer is a great honor" but he "could not accept the job."

Mac One of Five

The famous general was known to be one of the five remaining candidates for the vacant commissioner's post after a screening session of the 16 major league club owners here last week.

The others, it was learned by The Associated Press, are: Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio; Ford Frick, president of the National league; Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and Milt Eisenhower, president of Penn State college.

The club owners have been called into a joint session at Chicago Sept. 20 to name a successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who resigned July 15 to end a stormy seven-year term in office.

New Angles Told

These were other fast-breaking developments as baseball sought a new guiding hand:

1. In Washington, Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, said he thought Giles has the best chance of getting the position.

2. In Cincinnati, talk was that Lausche had accumulated such backing that he was demanding a 10-year term as commissioner.

Giles was reported lining up behind the Ohio governor, an executive who once played semi-pro baseball.

Contenders Idle in Torrid American Race on Monday

(By The Associated Press) There's no evidence of panic in Brooklyn today, but the citizens of Flatbush are growing uneasy over the exploits of Leo Durocher's surging New York Giants.

The hot shots from the banks of the Harlem river have soared to within five games of the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers on the wings of a sensational 16-game winning streak.

The Giants increased their unbeaten streak yesterday as they took a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 5-4 in 12 innings and 6-3. The Dodgers split a twi-night doubleheader with Pittsburgh, winning the opener, 5-0, but losing the second game, 5-2.

Cleveland Idle

The contenders in the tight American league scramble were idle. They resume action today with the Cleveland Indians, out in front by a game, entertaining the Philadelphia Athletics while the runner-up New York Yankees are at St. Louis. The third-place Boston Red Sox play at Detroit and the fourth place Chicago White Sox are at home against Washington.

The Athletics shaded the Detroit Tigers, 1-0, in the only American league game yesterday. In other National league games, the Boston Braves captured a twi-night doubleheader from the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-3 and 4-2, and the Philadelphia Phils swept a twi-night program from Cincinnati, 2-0 and 3-0.

came right back with two in their half to pull it out. Whitey Lockman singled with the bases loaded to send home the tying run and pinch-hitter Bill Rigney knocked in the winning counter with a fly ball.

The Giants encountered easier sailing in the second game, running up a 6-1 lead in seven innings. Home runs by Ed Stanky and Monte Irvin eased Rookie Al Corwin to his fifth straight victory without a loss. Home runs by Hank Sauer and Bob Ramazzotti accounted for all of Chicago's runs.

Nicholson Hits One

Home runs and brilliant pitching featured the Phils' sweep over the Reds. Bill Nicholson accounted for both runs in the opener with a first inning homer. Jocko Thompson blanked the Reds on three batters.

Del Wilber pounded out consecutive homers in the third, fifth and seventh innings of Ken Raffensberger to drive home all the runs in the second game. Ken Johnson shut out Cincinnati on seven safeties.

Little Bobby Shantz white washed the Tigers on seven hits. Dave Philley belted Martin Stuart for a homer in the second to win the game for the A's. Tiger George Kell collected two hits in three official tries to take over the league batting leadership from the A's Ferris Fain who singled in four trips. 150 Days in Jail

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Shirley Temple's ex-husband, John Agar, is under sentence of 150 days in jail for drunk driving.

The 30-year-old actor was sentenced yesterday to six months with 30 days suspended and was fined $150. He was arrested Jan. 13 in the San Fernando valley on a drunk driving charge and while awaiting trial was arrested April 8 in Hollywood on a similar charge. Convicted by a jury on one count, he pleaded guilty on the other.

Agar's second wife, the former Loretta Barnett, gave him a tearful embrace as he was led to jail. They were wed May 16 in Las Vegas, Nev. He married Shirley Temple in 1945 and they were divorced in 1949. She is now the wife of Charles Black of San Francisco and has custody of her daughter, Linda, by Agar.

Insect damage to stored grain causes an annual loss of from 300 to 600 millions of bushels of grain each year, according to estimates by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

According to the American Museum of Natural History, the least depth at which fish are designated "deep-sea fish" is 100 fathoms.

Warm, Humid In Midwest

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm and humid weather continued over most of the eastern and southern portions of the nation today.

Scattered showers fell early today, mostly in the central Atlantic states, with a few in the Missouri and Central Mississippi valleys. There also were rains and drizzles in Montana and Washington.

Forecasters said there was no indication of a break in the heat in Texas and other Gulf states. Texas had another scorcher Monday. The weather bureau reported highs of 102 at Fort Worth and 100 at San Antonio.

Boston Terrier Willed $50,000 By Millionaire

CLEARWATER, Fla., (AP)—A probate judge ruled that Dusty, a little Boston terrier, doesn't have to pay a federal estate tax on the $50,000 left in trust for him by his millionaire mistress.

Mrs. Mary S. Morrow left that sum for Dusty when she died here Jan. 9, 1950.

Her friend, Mrs. Gladys Hunter, testified yesterday she made the bequest so Dusty "could continue to get the calves' liver, porterhouse steaks and pork chops to which he was accustomed."

Dusty's right to the bequest was not questioned.

But the Morton plant hospital association, which got the residue from the Morrow estate after many bequests, thought the estate tax on Dusty's $50,000 should be paid from that sum itself.

Judge Jack White ruled, however, that Mrs. Morrow intended for Dusty to have $50,000 clear, so the tax will have to come from the hospital's share.

Cave Explorers Trapped, Saved By Human Chain

ABERCRAVE, Wales, (AP)—Two expert cave explorers were safe home today after a daring rescue from deep inside the Welsh mountains where they had been trapped by a flooding underground river for three days.

The explorers—Lewis Raitlon, 40, and William Little, 30—had been held prisoners in a high chamber, deep inside Ogof Ffyddu cavern, since Saturday when flash floods blocked all exits and sent tons of water into the underground Byfyr river.

A team of deep-sea divers plunged through black swirling waters yesterday to reach the marooned men. Then a human chain of 85 men—miners, other cave explorers and expert rescue workers—passed the two along to safety.

Explosion Fatal

WATERLOO, Ia., (AP)—An accidental explosion which occurred while he was being given an anesthetic in a dentist's office brought death to Owen Hindal, 20, yesterday. Hindal died of a burned throat and ruptured lungs. Dr. George Foster, the dentist, said he did not know what caused the explosion.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PROBATE OF WILL County of Lee) ss.
State of Illinois)
IN THE COUNTY COURT
To The Unknown Heirs-at-Law of Mary Morgan Smith, deceased, and to The Unknown Heirs-at-Law of Mary Morgan Smith, deceased, who are or may be engaged in the Military Service of the United States of America:
You and each of you will hereby take notice that an instrument purporting to be the last will of Mary Morgan Smith, deceased, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of the County of Lee, Illinois, together with the petition of Edward S. Murphy, representing among other things that the names of all the heirs, legatees and devisees of said deceased are as follows, to wit: Fred Gregg, Laura W. Gregg, also known as Loren Gregg, Mary Jane Clarkson, she being the same person as Mary Jane Gregg, Elizabeth Camp, Edward S. Murphy, Ruth Rising, Albright, Frances Rising, Twelves, Louise Guernsey, Edwina Smith, Leake, Lucretia Brown, Laura Morgan, Florence B. Harding; The Unknown Heirs-at-Law of Mary Morgan Smith, deceased; The Unknown Heirs-at-Law of Mary Morgan Smith, deceased, who are or may be engaged in the Military Service of the United States of America; and that Janet Rising Lumpkin and Clyde Smith, both of whom are deceased, are also named as legatees and devisees in said last will; and praying that said instrument be admitted to probate as the last will of said deceased, and that the same be ordered recorded.
You will also take notice that the hearing on said petition and the proof of said purported last will has been set by said Court for the first day of October, 1951, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the County Court Room in the City of Dixon in said County, when and where you may appear and show cause, if any you have, why said purported last will should not be admitted to probate.
Dated this 27th day of August, 1951.
STERLING D. SCHROCK,
Clerk of the County Court of said County.
Albert H. Hanneken, Attorney.
Aug. 28, Sept. 4, 11, 1951
NOTICE OF CLAIM DAY
Notice is hereby given to all persons that Monday, October 1, 1951, is the claim date in the estate of Samuel Elmer Cline, deceased, pending in the County Court of Lee County, Illinois, and that claims may be filed against the said estate on or before said date without issuance of summonses.
LEROY J. MILLER, Executor.

GERMANY TRIES HER WINGS—Allied relaxing of the laws against glider flying in Germany brought out this midget, tail-less glider for a successful flight test. Built by German engineer Werner Lutz, the craft has a 20-foot wingspread, cost about $100 to build. At top, the glider is about to be released from its tow rope; below, its small size and unique shape are seen as it sits in a field at Giessen, Germany.

SPITFIRE'S SUCCESSOR—The new British jet fighter, the Supermarine "Swift" (top), flies in formation with an honored ancestor, the "Spitfire," one of the most famous fighters of World War II. The "Swift," powered by a Rolls-Royce Avon jet engine, will be the first of the new swept-back wing fighters to go into quantity production for the Royal Air Force.
